RAINY WEATHER CAUSES SLUMP IN FAIR CROWDS

Paid Admissions Friday Totaled Only 6,200, Gate Receipts Show

NIGHT FAIR SUCCESSFUL

Program Closes Today with Derby Races; Horse Show Awards Announced

Marion County's seventy-sixth annual fair which comes to a close this afternoon will be recorded as one of the best in local history in respect to the number and quality of attractions but will not rank among the top notchers in point of attendance

Had it not been for the unfavorable weather conditions which developed Wednesday the crowds this week would probably have compared in size with the largest in county fair annals but as a consequence of Wednesday's rain and the occasional threat of more rain on the days following the attendance has been considerably below peak figures

Friday Attendance

Paid admissions Friday totalled about 6,200 which is less than the average attendance for this day Of this number 4,000 made up the crowd during the day and 2,200 gathered for the night fair Both night fairs were a decided success and as a consequence this will probably be made a permanent feature of the annual program

The record of paid admissions for Friday does not include children or adults admitted on complimentary tickets It is estimated that adding these to the ticket sale would swell the total attendance figure to 10,000 or more

Despite failure of the crowds to reach anticipated proportions the fair as a whole has been a pronounced success and will probably show a comfortable profit after all bills are paid

Program Feature

A feature of Friday's program was the announcement that Orler Knapp student in the Vocational Agricultural Department of the Pleasant Township schools had been awarded first prize of $8 in the Junior Fair for the best ton litter of pigs In addition he won the Ohio Ton Litter Club special for which a price of $15 was offered The Ohio

MOBILIZE 15,000 TROOPS TO FIGHT YAQUI INDIANS

Swift and Decisive Results Sought by Mexican Officials in Campaign

Mexico City Sept 18—Fifteen thousand federal troops were being mobilized *today to undertake the extermina*tion against the Yaqui Indians reported in violent revolt

The original war department estimate was that 5,000 men would be sufficient for the campaign but this number is now considered too small the government being desirous of swift and decisive results

In former campaigns against the Yaquis where smaller bodies of men were dispatched the Indians usually succeeded in entrenching themselves thoroughly thus insuring a long drawn out campaign without decisive outcome

The whereabouts of General Obregon and his fate still are obscure *One re*port has it that the statements earlier in the week that General Obregon had been besieged and then relieved were erroneous

Apparently no direct word has been received from General Obregon since it was reported that General Manzo's troops had relieved him

According to one version now in circulation General Manzo's troops failed to actually relieve General Obregon but merely joined with the troops defend*ing him and were* last reported still giving battle to the Yaquis

SEWAGE PLANT CONTRACT TO BE AWARDED SEPT. 30

Water and Frost-Proofing Work To Cost Approximately $2,400

Service Director O A Benedict has set Sept 30 as the date for letting the contract for water-proofing and frost proofing concrete work at the sewage plant west of the city Orders for having the work done were issued in a resolution adopted at the last meeting of City Council

The improvement which will cost about $2,400 was decided upon after investigation showed that treatment of the sewage plant concrete was advisable as a protective measure A patent process highly recommended by officials of other cities and by Engineer Gascoigne of Cleveland who supervised the construction of the local sewage plant will be used by the contractor It will prevent crumbling of the concrete, which is subjected to severe use because of the strong acids that make up the sewage disposal solution in the tanks at the plant

GEORGE VON ELM LEADING JONES IN FINAL ROUND

Amateur Golf Champion, Seeking To Retain Crown Third Year, Trails at 18th

CONTEST GREAT BATTLE

Fans Finally See Day When Georgian Has To Come from Behind

BULLETIN

Von Elm was leading Jones one up at the twenty seventh hole in the last 18 holes this afternoon.

Short Hills N J Sept 18—Golf addicts for several years have pined for the day when Bobby Jones was to be forced to come from behind in match play for the national amateur title

They got it today when George Von Elm led the great Georgian to the eighteenth green by one up in the final round of the national amateur championship

It was in one of the greatest battles up to the half way point ever staged for the national title the champion never being ... after the second hole was passed He even got the benefit of the doubt on the breaks laying Von Elm three stymies but Bobby couldn't make the most of the situation

As a matter of fact the coast man overcame two of the three stymies by sinking his putts anyhow

Jones Is First

Officials of the United States Golf Association this morning estimated that all records for attendance at golf in America would be broken Thomas McMahon executive secretary of the *association thought that the paid at*tendance would reach 15,000 and the gate receipts about $30,000

More than a half hour before Bobby Jones and George Von Elm were to tee off the crowd started to gather and had taken positions extending from the first tee to the green A double line of automobiles were lined up waiting to pass through the entrance gates and ticket sellers were busy at big windows

First blood went to Jones although Von Elm was good enough to get a par 5

They smashed, long straight shots off the tee Their seconds were long, too but not straight Von Elm's caught a trap to the left of the green, while Bobby's brassie was pulled to the grass just beyond the same bunker

Von Elm Squares Match

Von Elm chipped out to within 20 feet of the pin Bobby's rejoinder was to chip within three feet of the pin George then attempted to get down with his long putt and missed by inches whereupon Bobby dropped the three footer for a birdie 4 and was one up

Von Elm immediately squared the match by taking the second hole with a par 4 against Bobby's 5

George won the second hole in a manner most sensational jumping a dead stymie to get his winning par Both were again straight and long off the tee and they landed on the green with their seconds Jones being away He was five feet short with his approach putt Then Von Elm ran his up close and the burden of proof was on Bobby He missed the five footer and ran past the cup laying Von Elm a stymie George studied the situation intently peering at and estimating the situation He even called his caddie for advice then he took a mashie and

ILLINOIS RIVER RISES, MAY DOOM COUNTRYSIDE

Twenty Thousand Haggard Residents Watch Waters; Rain May Destroy Towns

Beardstown, Ill, Sept 18—The shadow of wholesale destruction flitted across the Illinois River valley today. In scores of cities and towns in this district, more than 20,000 residents, worn and haggard from days and nights of battling against flood waters, fed by weeks of torrential rains today were watching and waiting as the river rose slowly up the last three inches to the top of the retaining walls

"All that can be done has been done," those in charge of operations here declared "All we can do now is wait—and hope More rain, or even a high wind, will send the high waters rushing down over the towns. And thousands — perhaps millions — dollars of property damage will result."

SOLVE PROBLEM OF BLAINE-AV BLOCK PAVING

Heavy Rains Fail To Loosen Wood Surface After Cement Treatment

Possibility that the Blaine-av wood block paving problem has been solved is indicated following the heavy rain of Wednesday night, which failed to loosen the blocks where repair work was done recently under the supervision of Service Director O. A. Benedict.

The stretch of pavement between Church and Columbia sts has been a source of trouble ever since the flood of 1913 when a large area of the wood blocks was washed out. There has been a repetition of the same difficulty several times since the first washout, the last damage being done by the heavy rainfall about two weeks ago.

When the paving was replaced this time the service director had his men lay a film of sand concrete into which the blocks were set. This appears to have provided firm anchorage which is likely to withstand heavy rains in the future. At any rate the downpour of Wednesday night, one of the most severe of the year, did not loosen any of the blocks and investigation has shown that the concrete is not affected in the least.

After the repaired section has set thoroughly the service director will cover the surface with a thin mixture of Headley's patching material which has been successfully used in street repairs here for a number of years. He believes that this treatment will add greatly to the firmness of the paving and minimize the danger of washouts. The surface was formerly treated with oil but experience has shown that this only served to loosen the blocks.

Blaine-av has the only wood block paving in the city. Workmen in the force of the service director are still busy clearing the city's sewer system of refuse and debris washed off the streets by this week's heavy rains. Sewers in various parts of the city are clogged with accumulations of this material.

DOMED TOMB AT MEDIA YIELDS ANCIENT RELICS

Athens, Sept. 18—Important archaeological finds are announced in advices to the Ministry of Education from the ancient site of Medea in Peloponnesus.

In a domed tomb of the Mycenean period were found a golden bottle ornamented with Mycenean bulls' heads in silver and other decorations, a gold necklace of a very rare and beautiful type, a finely carved gold ring, three copper swords with gold ornamentations and various other gold articles.

Steewart G. Glasener Claims Real Estate Outlook Very Encouraging

FOUR HOMES UNDER WAY

Forecast Based on 15 Years Experience as Builder in This City

The coming year will be one of the best in the history of Marion from a building standpoint, says Stewart G. Glasener, 136 Homer st. Of all Marion citizens he is one of the best qualified to know what he is talking about in building matters. During the last 15 years he has built [illegible] homes in this city, sometimes as high as 30 new homes in a single year.

The outlook in Marion is especially encouraging [illegible] Mr. Glasener [illegible] because [illegible] in the last 6 years and the demand for modern homes for sale has created an increase. [illegible] plans to continue building all through the winter months. At present he has four modern homes under construction at the intersection of Mt. Vernon and S. Grand avs. He plans to build another fine home on Mt. Vernon av. directly opposite the entrance of Vernon Heights blvd.

Quality Better

In his 15 years experience as a builder and contractor, Mr. Glasener has seen a direct increase in the quality of the home which is most in demand. For the last four years he has specialized in the better class home which is complete in every respect and has all the popular built-in features. This grade of homes ranging in price up to $9,000.

While Mr. Glasener has never selected one locality as the scene for his building operations, he has built two distinct groups, one on Thew av. west of Prospect st., and the other on S. Grand av.

Active in Marion's civic affairs in general, Mr. Glasener has been especially honored by the real estate board of the city and the state. He is a past president of the local real estate board and is a member of the executive committee and board of governors of the Ohio State Association of Real Estate Boards.

CHILDREN'S HOME NOW GETTING NEW SERVICE

Institution Connected Up with Power Line Leading from Cardington

Marion County Children's Home today was connected up with the new light and power line leading north along the Delaware pk from the Morrow Public Service Co. of Cardington. The old line and poles leading from this city to the Home will be scrapped.

The new line, over four miles in length, extending along the east side of the Delaware rd from a point two miles north of Waldo, also furnishes electric current to farmhouses along the route.

The construction of the new line got under way a few months ago when it was learned that the Marion-Delaware rd was to be widened. Because of this widening the poles carrying the lines from Marion to the Home are to be removed.

The use of the poles owned by the Marion County Telephone Co. was leased several years ago by county commissioner who wished to supply the Children's Home with electric light and power. The lines belonged to the Columbus, Delaware & Marion Electric Co.

Pleasant Township School, four miles south of Marion and 1 mile east of Owens, is also supplied with electric light as it opens for the fall term. A line leading to the school has been built by the C. D. & M. Electric Co. from Owens. The C. D. & M. of this city will furnish the current for the building.

If it is fireproof, we have it, but if you do want something that burns, order some of our good coal.

"Use common sense in crossing tracks"

USE COMMON SENSE
Remember that street cars run on tracks and the track itself is a warning. The approach of a car is another warning. While a motorman is always on the alert he cannot read your mind. He does not know if you are going to wait prudently until the car passes or if you will "take a chance." He is justified in thinking that you will observe the laws of common sense and not take foolish chances.

Companies of Fair Days

TO paraphrase The Old Grey Mare theatrical fair week ain't what she used to be.

Remember in the old days—before four wheel gasoline eating vehicles came into style—how everybody spent all day at the fair? Everybody got up early, drove into town in the carriage and stayed at the fair all day. And then most everybody went to the opera house in the evening.

That's why one says the theatrical fair week ain't what she used to be. Back in those days the repertoire troupes held forth at the opera house—at every opera house when there was a county fair.

But the movies and the automobiles have changed the dramatic life of our fair days.

A glance back into the files of The Star and one recalls Mae La Porte, one of the good old fair stock stars in such spicy comedies as "The Pink Corset" etc. Then the Minelli Brothers came around in "Lena Rivers" and such. The Kinsey Komedy Kompany often played at the fair stands and Billy Allen's musical comedy troupe gave rough and ready but entertaining attractions after long fair days. The Shannon players are familiar to most of us and several weeks ago the Bell Barkus troupe was in the opera house at Marysville with "Lightnin'," "Chicken Feed" and others not so well known.

But the movies and the automobiles are slowly displacing these offerings; the fair visitors neither come so early nor stay so late. There isn't the incentive to remain in the city for a drammer or a comedy. And the movies are cheaper and not so long. And there you are—

To those interested in any way in things theatrical there is the midway of any county fair.

What a conglomeration of talent! What life! ... Noise ... barkers telling their wares ... I've got the best show on the grounds for ten cents ... Two faced children ... The monkey with the baby's hand ... Sword swallowers ... Fat Emma, fattest woman alive ... And for a nickle more maybe she'll stand up ... Charleston dancers ... And a beautiful girl in the gaudy cheapness of midway tent shows ... If she was only dressed in musical comedy raiment and put in front of a gorgeous background what a beauty she would be! ... Hot dogs and grease ... Ice cream cones ... Souvenirs ... And fairly new pieces too ... unusual ... The planted wrestler comes up from the crowd to challenge the show's strong man ... And on and on.

Next week offers interesting theatrical fare in Marion.

Of course "The Big Parade" is the featured entertainment coming in road show form with the first performance Monday night and then matinee and night showings Tuesday and Wednesday. This is one of the finest pictures ever produced. It will be shown at the Grand.

At the Marion for the first two days "The Other Woman's Story" will be shown. Alice Calhoun, Mahlon Hamilton and Robert Frazer are featured.

The last four days of the week the Marion will present Rex, the famous horse that appeared in "Black Cyclone." This time Rex is in "The Devil Horse" and is said to perform just as many amazing feats as he did in "Black Cyclone." A famous cowboy is featured with the horse.

The Grand has a novelty program for the last half of the week. The picture will be "Senor Daredevil" with a new star, Ken Maynard. Maynard's picture has recently been shown in the Oriental, Chicago, and is said to have created quite a sensation. He is a western player. Along with the picture a tabloid stage version of "The Bird of Paradise," the best of the Hawaiian plays, will be given. The producer of this Tully play has put it into one hour and 20 minutes and 20 persons are in the cast, it is said, with native singers and dancers.

The productions of American theater managers during the coming season will be 25 per cent European, according to information in theatrical circles.

Lee Shubert, A. H. Woods, George Tyler, Morris Gest and Archie Selwyn are among those who have looked over the British field during the summer and picked out the plays which they want for Broadway during the Autumn and Winter.

British plays said to be booked for American theaters during the next few months include "The Ghost Train," Arnold Ridley; "Wet Paint," the Earl of Latham; "All Our Yesterdays," C. K. Munro; "Cavalier of the Streets," Michael Arlen; "The League of Nations," Frederick Lonsdale; "Diversions"; "Paul Impres," Louis N. Parker; "The Letter," Somerset Maugham; "On Approval," Frederick Lonsdale; "Scotch Mist," Sir Patrick Hastings; "Berkeley Square," John L. Balderston and J. C. Squire; "Anne Pedersdotter," John [illegible]; "This Woman Business," Benn Levy; "Why Not," Sinclair Scott and Caswell Garth; "The Constant Nymph," Basil Dean and Margaret Kennedy; "No. 1," Jefferson Farjeon; "What Fun Frenchmen Have," Michael Arlen; "Importance of Being Earnest," Oscar Wilde; "Grierson's Way," H. V. Esmond; "The Silver Fox," Joan [illegible].

George K. Arthur, the young English actor who has become familiar to American audiences through his portrayal of effeminate young men on the screen, will attempt to win the $25,000 prize offered by William Wrigley, Jr., to the first person swimming the 22-mile channel between the mainland and Catalina Island.

Arthur went into training immediately under Coach Swenson of the Hollywood Athletic Club and will be ready for the swim by January 1, when the contest will start.

Arthur, a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer player, since years ago swam from Quickingham to Richmond on the Thames river. He was junior champion of the southern counties of England before coming to America and holds several British records.

The numerous and devastating forest fires in western United States and Canada during the past few weeks have made wonderful movie shots.

Jack Conway, directing "The Understanding Heart," based on the story by Peter B. Kyne, has just completed the filming of a fire that devastated a great acreage in the mountain sections of Northern California. The fire wasn't called for in the scenario but the director couldn't resist the opportunity to incorporate the blaze into his story.

Reginald Barker, Cosmopolitan director handling "The Flaming Forest," got wonderful fire scenes in Montana, Canada and Michigan. Antonio Moreno and Renee Adoree play the principal parts in this picture.

Immediately upon the return of the Pacific Coast battle fleet from its summer cruise up the coast more than [illegible]000 bluejackets and marines turned out for fall football practice. The coming season's west coast navy football league will be composed of some twenty-five sailor teams.

The battleship league at San Pedro will be represented by twelve battleship teams representing the States of California, Colorado, West Virginia, Maryland, Tennessee, New Mexico, Idaho, Mississippi, Nevada, Oklahoma, Arizona and Pennsylvania.

The San Diego naval district's football conference will be composed of teams from the [illegible] air force, the submarine base, the [illegible] and the Marine barracks.

The sailor eleven will be [illegible] naval officers who [illegible] Annapolis [illegible] last year.

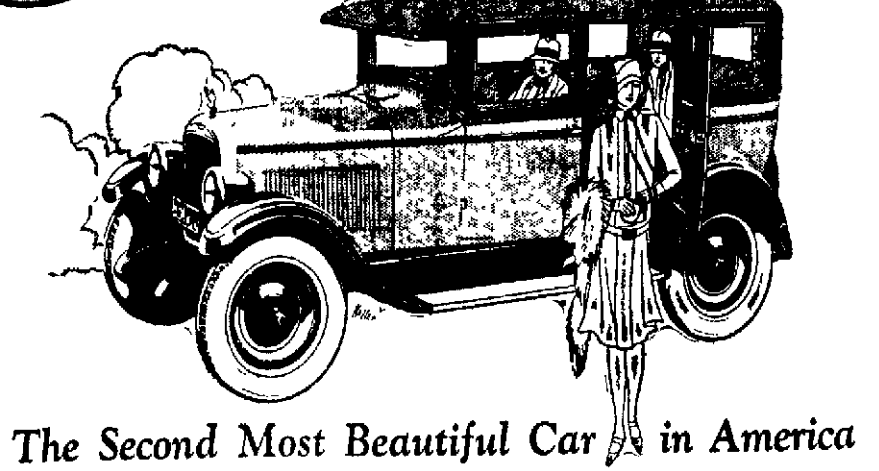
the beautiful
New
Jewett



The Second Most Beautiful Car in America

You will scarcely believe your eyes when you first step inside this beautiful new Jewett and see the luxury that surrounds you. Certainly no earlier car, at so moderate a price, has ever approached the atmosphere of style that envelops this car.

Every line, every fitting, every appointment is in perfect taste The instruments are clustered in a beautiful, indirectly-lighted panel The deep cushions, over nested springs, have cleverly placed arm rests, and silken toggle-straps are in easy reach to assist entrance and exit Skillfully inlaid walnut-finish panels, twin smoking sets and corner lights complete the custom-built air.

Mechanically, this Jewett is dependableness itself. A larger motor than former Jewetts possessed gives even quicker acceleration, smoother performance, longer service. Paige-Hydraulic 4-Wheel brakes insure maximum safety. Every proved mechanical superiority of the day is here—such features (associated usually with cars of highest cost) as an air cleaner, balanced crankshaft, high-pressure lubrication, bronze-backed bearings. Larger balloon tires and snubbers for comfort.

Come see this car soon. Drive it—enjoy its luxurious charm. Come in any time, there's no obligation.

Bain's Two Singing Dolls Appear on Fair Program

Addison Bain and his singing dolls Friday contributed a surprise feature to the Marion County fair which scored a decided hit with hundreds of youngsters who have followed the entertainers about the grounds enjoying the unusual program

Mr Bain who is a member of the Marion Board of Health and former City Park Superintendent estimates that his dolls gave at least 100 concerts at various points on the fairground Friday and that fully 1,700 boys and girls listened to the songs and recitations

There are two of the dolls which sing the latest popular ballads and recite catchy rhymes through the operation of phonograph attachments built into the bodies

Mr Bain who became noted as an entertainer of children while he was employed as park superintendent in Marion presented this feature of the fair voluntarily and without compensation

"The pleasure that I get from being surrounded by happy boys and girls is sufficient reward for me" he informed a Star representative today

Unusual Incident

One unusual incident in connection with one of the concerts is described by Mr Bain A blind man equipped with a tin cup as a receptacle for alms was seated near the scene of one of the singing doll concerts As the program closed Mr Bain urged all of the youngsters to deposit a penny each in the cup Those who had no pennies were supplied by the doll man

As a result of Mr Bain's suggestion the blind man's receptacle was filled to overflowing before the donation had ceased Many adults viewing the spectacle joined Mr Bain and the children in swelling the contribution with nickles and dimes

Youthful Heroism.

Don't stop! shouted sixteen year old Edith Henderson as a coast guard motor boat approached to rescue her from the waves. I'm all right. Go out and get the rest of them and with a wave of dismissal she swam on toward the beach at Ocean City New Jersey.

Life guards had been startled a few minutes before when they saw seventeen year old Thorn Henderson emerge from the sea and stumble toward their patrol station.

My father and six men are clinging to an overturned boat about three miles out he called. Hurry!

Three motor boats were quickly launched worked over the breakers and headed out to sea by the coast guard the boy going with them. A few hundred yards out another swimmer was seen approaching. That's my sister Edith the boy said. We were all out fishing in a forty foot boat when it hit a bar and capsized. We all managed to grab hold of the boat but I knew we couldn't hold on forever so I said I was going after help. Edith said she was going with me. She's a dandy swimmer and kept up with me almost all the way. Don't bother about her.

But the coast guards did bother only to meet the response from the girl quoted.

When the coast guards reached the fishing boat they found the swimmers clinging to the upturned keel. They arrived just in time as none of the men could have held on much longer the father of Thorn and Edith said.

Seven lives rescued through the courage and heroism of a seventeen year old youth and his sixteen year old sister both of whom swam fully clothed three miles to summon aid.

It is not at all difficult to forecast the awarding of two Carnegie hero medals for surely recognition will not be withheld by the committee on awards for heroism such as this Disarmament Talk Is Bunk.

If there is one conclusion which may be drawn with greater certainty than any other from what is related of events, all [illegible] from what our own naval experts say, from the utterances of the leader of [illegible] powers from our own [illegible] reason [illegible] is this thus who hope for further naval disarmament in the near future are doomed to disappointment and that the gesture we are making in this direction at present will be fruitless.

It may be urged that all this could have been said immediately prior to the Washington disarmament conference of 1922 but the situation then and the situation now are as far apart as the poles. Four years ago we voluntarily surrendered our naval supremacy in the hope that our example would be emulated. It was a futile hope. The naval program we abandoned at that time would within the course of a few years have placed our navy far in advance of any afloat. We had the resources to execute the program and our citizenship was in the humor to have it executed. We were the only power at that time possessed of the means to execute such a program. Great Britain recognized these facts and so did Japan. But in a spirit of idealism we abandoned our program. Not only that but we also junked our finest battleships in course of construction and nearing completion which would easily have been the mightiest afloat and at the same time permitted Great Britain and Japan not only to retain their most powerful vessels but also to finish the still more powerful fighting ships they had in the course of construction.

These two powers were glad to enter the agreement we proposed by which the naval strength of the United States Great Britain and Japan was supposedly limited and held on a 5-5-3 basis in the order named. We tore down our naval strength and by so doing proportionally increased theirs. We might have stood 5-5-3 then but we abided by the spirit of the agreement which they did not with the result that today our navy does not compare in strength with that of Great Britain and by many experts is held to have less strength than that of Japan. In a word we outgeneraled ourselves if that term may thus be used.

We had a premium to offer for disarmament then and as [illegible] at [illegible] upon Great Britain and Japan but today we have nothing of the kind to offer and all the powers of the world know it. And there will be no further naval disarmament till we again have something to give away. Britain frankly says she will not dismantle her navy. She dares not for any time she loses command of the sea her empire will be lost to her. Japan might scrap her navy but she won't. She will continue to strengthen it just as she has been strengthening it regardless of the Washington agreement.

As it is on the sea so it is on land. European powers will not abandon their armies because of their ever present fear of attack. France realizes that she is being surrounded by an arm of steel. Germany maintains the limit of her permitted strength because of her fear of Bolshevik aggression from Russia. Italy is a military camp. It was but a few weeks since that Premier Mussolini said "When Great Britain has junked her navy and France disbanded her army and her mighty air force and scrapped her submarines then and only then will it be in order to talk to Italy about disarmament." Spain must increase her land forces if she is to hold Morocco. Poland and Roumania dare not disarm. As it has been aptly put they are on the frontier of an enemy of civilization. All Europe is armed and none better in proportion to population than little Switzerland and Europe proposes to stay armed.

Interviewed in Paris W. B. Shearer expert on naval affairs who has been at Geneva for weeks as an observer and is now en route home said "Tell America just what bunk this disarmament is." There we have in a sentence the definition of this disarmament talk. It is bunk pure and unadulterated bunk

BOBBED!

Anesthetic Not Hard To Take.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND M. D.

United States Senator from New York
Former Commissioner of Health New York City

Operations are not such dreadful things. But I confess that I always dreaded the idea of having an operation performed on me.

In spite of the fact that for twenty or thirty years I was operating on other people I never had to have anything done to my anatomy. During that time I saw thousands of anesthetics administered and yet I always felt that I should hate to take one myself.

When the occasion came to take an anesthetic and have an operation after it was all over I was positively ashamed of myself to think I had dreaded it. In the hands of the skillful physician an anesthetic is easily administered and you will be surprised if you have never had the experience to find how quickly and comfortably you lose consciousness.

It will probably not be necessary for you to have an operation but it is a good thing to know what operations are like. Then if fate decrees you must go on the surgical table it will not be a dreadful shock to you.

What will you say if why so? The trouble with most folks is that they know too many things that aren't true. The worst operations never happen. Thousands of persons go about with their hearts full of trouble—they are living in dread of operations which will never be required.

If you suspect there is something wrong with you and that an operation is necessary go to your doctor at once. You should find out exactly what is the matter. Better still it is wonderful to find there is nothing the matter with you. When the doctor tells you there is nothing wrong it will make you happy. You will be glad to learn he has cut nothing well.

But suppose the doctor says you need a trifling operation—what then? Are you to fear your fate and loudly lament your fate?

When I think how we used to sit in the dental chair and have a couple of teeth extracted I am ready to say a major operation today is mild in comparison. There was no cocaine in that day no laughing gas in the ordinary. There no anesthetic at all. The cruel forceps were sent crashing into the jaw and the powerful arm of the dentist yanked out the tooth while his knee was pressed into your stomach to hold you in the chair!

But now an expert in anesthetics known as an anesthetist administers the well chosen agent puts you to sleep in a jiffy. He does his work [illegible]. Today there is slight nausea and little vomiting afterward.

The kind surgeon has knowledge of drugs and it is urged to make you comfortable when you have shaken off the effects of the anesthetic. In a few days you are out of bed and better than ever before.

Standardized Quality

makes FINER PERFORMANCE and LONGER LIFE

Mechanically Inevitable

in the CHRYSLER "60"

The Chrysler "60" is the product of Standardized Quality—a new and higher order of manufacture which actually makes any deviation from its exacting and superior standards mechanically impossible.

Obviously, because the Chrysler "60" is a car produced under such a plan, quality is built in and the Chrysler "60" must therefore also stand up immeasurably better under the strain of hard service.

Sixty miles, and more, per hour; get-away of 5 to 25 miles in 7¾ seconds; gas economy of 22 miles and more per gallon; characteristic Chrysler beauty; astonishing riding ease and roadability; the safety of Chrysler four-wheel hydraulic brakes; oil-filter and air-cleaner; full pressure lubrication; seven-bearing crankshaft; impulse neutralizer; road levellizers front and rear; roomy, luxurious bodies.

Come in and see the new lighter six, Chrysler "60". Drive it—get the thrill of its smooth performance and comfort, then compare it with any low-priced lighter six-cylinder of ordinary manufacture.

We are confident you'll be convinced that nowhere will you find a six at its price that can begin to compare with this great Chrysler achievement.

CHRYSLER "60"—Touring Car, $1075; Roadster, $1145; Club Coupe, $1165; Coach, $1195, Sedan, $1295

All prices f. o. b. Detroit, subject to current Federal excise tax

Superior Performance Results from Superior Manufacturing

The Chrysler plan of Quality Standardization differs from, and is superior to, ordinary manufacturing practice and methods, because it demands fixed and inflexible quality standards which enforce the same scrupulously close limits—the same rigid rule of engineering exactness—the same absolute accuracy and precision of alignment and assemblage—in the measurement, the machining and the manufacturing of every part, practice and process in four lines of Chrysler cars—"50", "60", "70" and Imperial "80".

Uncertainty of Weather Displayed in Clothes Worn By Women Fair Visitors

That seasons are changing and that the weather man is uncertain is apparent [illegible] selection of wearing apparel [illegible] the Marion County Fair this year.

Has especially shown the time [illegible] year [illegible] of straw or [illegible] felt or velvet hat is forced to fashion for early fall.

Few women seem to care [illegible] what is known as Sunday best, preferring instead to worship the god [illegible] with gingham silk, crepe or woolen dress all of which are serviceable and of such quality to withstand the most severe weather. Striking outfits are to be seen on some of the more careless or daring fairgoers however. A white wool straight piece dress with black beaver collar and cuffs was seen at the fair. Another outfit [illegible] quite out of place among the cattle and farm produce but nevertheless quite smart and attractive on the dark haired young lady who wore it was a modish black satin frock with large white organdy collar and small tight black satin hat to match. Suits of dark blue or tan especially when set with fox or squirrel neck piece looked especially appropriate for fall and such uncertain weather. But best of all is the simple sport dress in which the fair goer looked warm and comfortable in good taste.

Slickers Numerous

Slickers and smart silk umbrellas were much in evidence nearly every day of the fair. Red green blue and yellow slickers added to the color array [illegible]

[illegible] He was [illegible] [illegible] about the [illegible] same little [illegible] [illegible] him to safety.

Women fair visitors might be [illegible] [illegible] for the fair [illegible] exceptions they [illegible] that is practical [illegible]

Traffic Cops Have Respect, Gentle Ways

[illegible] Busying Himself with Campaign Plans for Candidate on Scotch Economy

By WILL ROGERS

[illegible]—Well all I k[illegible] [illegible] in letters I am [illegible] will find my [illegible] reading. Do you [illegible] two weeks old [illegible] of late interest [illegible] the party was [illegible] two or three [illegible] their trial and be out [illegible] these papers over [illegible] murders much [illegible] old fashioned about [illegible]. Why when President [illegible] that Red Snapper up [illegible] over and made [illegible] and here a fellow [illegible] out and do a fair [illegible] maybe come in w[illegible] the cook of his [illegible] they won't cable [illegible] they do the news [illegible] news from America [illegible] under the head AMERICAN PROSPERITY. Yes [illegible] report [illegible] Automobiles 32 [illegible] furnish[illegible] and other na[illegible] [illegible] who was [illegible] who did the robbing [illegible]. You can't find [illegible] done any good [illegible] just like a base[illegible]. You get the results and [illegible] is complete [illegible] you do know [illegible] errors. Now [illegible] couldn't run a paper here [illegible] that over home. Then [illegible] funny thing about [illegible] here. If they happen to [illegible] here (They had one last [illegible]) they don't show any pictures at all. If they have any [illegible] of the fellow who did the killing [illegible] let the police use [illegible]. They seem to think the police [illegible] toward catching him than [illegible] and the funny part [illegible] that they do. Well can you [illegible] a fellow leading a Gang over [illegible] to rob a place and [illegible] a half dozen getting away [illegible] having a single paper publish [illegible] pictures of him? Say he'd [illegible] sore he would call on that [illegible] tell him something. He would be so sore that he [illegible] any more. And imagine [illegible] publish his Girl's picture [illegible] Master Mind He[illegible] hand Gang Leader. You keep her picture out of the paper and you will see how long she will continue this master minding. Over here they don't care if he had a Girl. He could have a Harem if he wanted to, nobody would ever read about it. After the murder is over the next thing you read about him is "He was cheerful to the last."

WHY AIN'T MY MUG IN HERE?!
LESTER

He will call on that editor!

Criminals Not Heroes

If he wants to do any Heroing here he better do it before he commits any crime. For from that time on the papers are going to cease to be his Press Agents.

Do you know as a real matter of fact that Criminal Statistics of England prove that all the Murders that have been committed here that over 50 per cent of the ones that committed the crime have committed suicide before or right after being caught? They do that rather than face the law. They know that they will be caught and they know what will happen to them after they are caught. So rather than face it they kill themselves. Can you imagine a fellow in some big City over home committing suicide for fear he would be caught, or funnier still one committing suicide for fear of what would happen to him after he did get caught. It wouldn't be possible for an American criminal to commit suicide. It would require too big a sense of humor.

They got the quaintest ideas over here of right and wrong. [illegible] of the Cafes are not allowed to serve anything to drink after twelve o'clock. But they have Cabaret shows that run to two or three o'clock and after twelve there is not a drop to drink on any table, and no one has a little bid under the table and not a flask in the house. They seem to think because it's a law that they have to obey it. They got the funniest ideas that way. They seem to think the whole thing is on the level. All in the world you have to do over here to get a fellow not to do anything is just to let him know that it is against the law. Now these papers over here will print something about the League of Nations or France's Financial Trouble or Mexico or Our Congress even before they will print crime stuff. I don't see how in the world they make a living with them. And the Policemen, especially the Traffic ones, when they catch you they are so nice about it that they don't seem like traffic Policemen at all. You never hear one say "Ha Bo. Pull over there! Say where do you think you are going? What's the big idea? You are the only one on the road?" They are so nice about it here that it is almost a pleasure to have stopped and made their acquaintance.

But as I say they are just so far behind the times over here they don't know any better. They think they are progressing. So that's what makes it so hard to get any news out of their papers that would be of any interest to you all over there.

Mellon Was Smart

We had in our Theatre recently the Mother that swam the Channel. She seems a mighty nice modest woman and gives everybody else a lot of credit. The Channel has been kinder vacant the last few days. I guess about everybody come over that wanted to. Secretary Hughes is prowling around over here somewhere. Mellon was smarter then Hughes. He come while he held office. I am leaving here soon and going up to Scotland to see Barney Baruch at his Grouse Castle. They have killed about all the gentle Grouse up there now and they are just waiting till the Scotchmen get some more gentled for them. Barney and I got to sorter lay out our lines for the old 1928 hands up. I hate to mix Politics and Grouse and Bagpipes and Kilts but 28 looks like a Democratic year. It's two years away. That's the main reason it looks like a Democratic year. Any two years away always looks like a Democratic year. In fact any two years away is a Democratic year. Democratic Politics is what you might call future Politics. But Barney and I have a pretty good layout of a Campaign. He is going to furnish the Candidate and I am going to furnish the Platform. We have really never had a well written platform. It's always had ink splotches on it, or beer stains or something. So I have an idea of an entirely new one that will give us everything but the votes. Now we got to look to Mr Coolidge for the votes. The way he and the weather act between now and the fall of 28 will decide the votes for us. Democratic Candidates have been nominated in the back rooms of hotels for years. But this is the first time one ever was chosen out on the moors of Old Scotland, while we are waiting for the Scotchmen to raise some half breed Prairie Chickens b[illegible]

A Kilted President

So the next President, if he is elected on the Democratic Party, out of respect to our judgment we will insist that he wears Kilts and have a Scotch Economy Platform.

A STORY OF YOUTH AND LOVE

BY KATHARINE BRUSH

BOOK V

I

Late that afternoon Jock [illegible] into his mother's apartment and found her deep in conversation with Saunders Lincoln. From the door he could see the semicircles of their heads, one iron gray and smoothly brushed, one silver and rippling above the backs of chairs drawn to a sociable angle. A quartette of crystal glasses on a stand and a card table pushed to one side with cards in concise little stacks of four still lining its edge testified that there had been other guests but there were not now, and he had an immediate distinct impression that his entrance interrupted a discussion of himself.

"Who's been taking my name in vain?" he demanded, marching over to stand before them, fists on hips, menacingly.

"Both of us," Mrs. Hamill admitted with composure. She was lying almost at full length, her slender shoulders sunk into a cushion and her feet, luxurious as a debutante's in chiffon [illegible] and three-inch heels, thrust out on a footstool in front of her. She twirled a finger in the long string of amber beads that touched her tea gown with color and smiled at Jock. "Your entire future, my dear, has just been elaborately and painstakingly mapped out."

"Fine! What's it going to be?"

"God's knows," said Mrs. Hamill pleasantly. "We only decided what we'd like it to be. Having no influence in heaven and none whatever over you, I suspect that in all probability it will be something quite different. Do sit down, darling, you make me nervous. A giant at that height is too reminiscent of a gargoyle on a roof."

Jock and Saunders Lincoln laughed together and Jock bent to move the little slippered feet to the side of the footstool, seating himself by them.

"Well, I," he declared, "have spent this New Year's day elaborately and painstakingly mapping out the future of a beautiful young lady."

"Coincident with your own, of course," said his mother dryly.

"Bum guess. The beautiful young lady was not Yvonne."

Mrs. Hamill's eyes widened and Lincoln said, "Why, I'd been led to believe that Yvonne was the only really beautiful young lady now extant!"

"She is," Jock assured them soberly. "This one's just an infant. Cecily Graves from East Orange. I met her once at college and last night she showed up at the Tavern and—well, there's quite a yarn. Want to listen?"

"Yes," cried Mrs. Hamill with enthusiasm.

Leaning forward, his hands on his knees and a forgotten cigarette consuming itself in his fingers, Jock outlined the history of Cecily as he knew it. His hearers seemed to find it extremely interesting. They neither moved nor spoke and he, absorbed in what he said, did not realize that they were more absorbed in the way in which he said it—in the inflections of his voice and the unconscious buoyancy of his expression. He failed to note how often their glances met across the top of his head and how once, after a descriptive passage employing countless superlatives, Mrs. Hamill's right eye disappeared for the fraction of a second under a drooping lid while the left eye glinted meaningly.

"So after we'd had breakfast," he narrated in conclusion, "I took her then to Yvonne's while she got her own clothes and then we drove out to East Orange—"

"Yvonne with you?" queried Mrs. Hamill very casually.

"No, she still wouldn't budge. Just Cecily and I. And I met her father and mother. They're wonderful people—sound like comic page tabs the [illegible]. He's fat and bald and rubicund and on the slightest provocation emits guffaws that make the welkin ring. Great guy! He and I got very chubby inside of ten minutes. Mrs. Graves isn't quite so approachable—little bit high hat and crinkle dame—but she's all right too.

"They seem to have all kinds of dough. You know that house that sits back in the trees on the right as you go into the town there, mother?—the one with an artificial lake in the lawn and a lot of turrets and things like a fairy story castle? Well, that's theirs. I stayed there about an hour and then came back to Yvonne's again and we've been talking the situation over ever since. Yvonne thinks I ought to appoint myself Cecily's guardian from now on—sort of look after her and take her around places—"

"Yvonne thinks so?"

Jock, looking up, saw incredulity writ plain on his mother's face and a faint reflection of it traced across the features of Saunders Lincoln. "Sure she does!" he insisted. "Why not? Did you think she'd be jealous or something? That's absurd. Yvonne isn't that way. And [illegible] Cecily's only a kid. [illegible] cute little kid [illegible] a lot of looking after."

[illegible] he [illegible] that I'm really [illegible] to me [illegible]

[illegible] said Mrs. Hamill slowly. [illegible] she [illegible] nothing [illegible] the circumstances [illegible] start?

[illegible] she tired her [illegible] all the way over to Jersey [illegible] the way [illegible] stopped [illegible] picked out a couple [illegible] books for her to read. [illegible] a pologue?

[illegible] Well, and when do [illegible] expect to see her again? Why [illegible] bring her here some day soon [illegible] I like what I hear [illegible]. Mrs. Hamill spoke never more [illegible]

"I'll [illegible]" answered Jock. He [illegible] and observed happily as though it had just occurred to him. "She's coming to the Tavern [illegible] with the boy she's engaged to."

Mrs. Hamill sat up with such sudden [illegible] ash tray she had [illegible] the floor. "Oh [illegible] is engaged."

[illegible] this impulsive [illegible] exclamation. "Why [illegible]" thought Jock struck [illegible] of the things that had [illegible] his mother's mind came to him. She wanted to think I might fall in love with Cecily—that must mean she doesn't like Yvonne. Oh, hell! [illegible]

But he knew it could not mean anything else.

He said stiffly, "I believe so. Cecily won't acknowledge it [illegible] but she seems pretty fairly anxious to have us meet this girl and see what we think of [illegible]. What [illegible] engaged for heaven's sake [illegible] not forget."

"I [illegible]" [illegible] Mrs. Hamill.

There was a [illegible] and [illegible]. Jock and Yvonne entered the Tavern at seven [illegible] the [illegible] Well [illegible] after six [illegible] the [illegible]

He [illegible] more [illegible]

Jock and Yvonne [illegible] Tavern at seven [illegible] the [illegible] with men and women [illegible] and [illegible] crowd [illegible] New Year's [illegible] who were now either [illegible] The atmosphere was even [illegible] the faces were drawn [illegible] metallic. From their [illegible] Happy [illegible] players sent forth a listless syncopation [illegible] couples [illegible] as though [illegible] against their will [illegible] the night before [illegible]

Jock [illegible] a table for four and there waited, saying little. Yvonne wasn't [illegible] talk she averred [illegible] quiet. He [illegible] watching his fingers [illegible] thinking many deep and tremulous things.

After quite a long time he said unexpectedly, "Dear, let's not wait till February. Let's get married right away. Shall we?" His hand covered hers on the table. "[illegible]"

He had made the entreaty innumerable times but never quite in this way. There was a sort of desperation in his tone and something very like fear in his eyes. He felt Yvonne's hand tremble and was sure that she shared this strange, indecipherable new emotion which filled him [illegible] until she spoke. Her words were light and tinkling, cool as little icicles. "What on earth is the matter with you tonight, Jock Hamill?"

"I don't know," he answered hopelessly. "I just have the damnedest funny feeling—"

Then through the smoke and the tired air Cecily came toward them. She seemed to dance toward them like a bright autumn leaf in the wind—radiantly alive, quickening the pulses. She wore a brocaded evening cloak with a vast fur collar and above it her eyes shone and her sweet full lips smiled [illegible] that said "[illegible] life's fun. Come and play with me!"

A young man walked just behind her [illegible] "That young man," Jock thought. "She'll marry him. Any girl would." There was a heavy [illegible] Barnholme.

His crisp hair [illegible] waved as though fresh from a marcelling iron [illegible] were tempted to lay one finger [illegible] its perfect undulations. His eyebrows grew thick at the nose and thin over the temples like a tweezered flapper's. His eyes, blue eyes, almost violet, were set in tangled dark lashes. But to counteract the effect of these too ladylike attributes he had a great sinewy body, blunt hands with nails [illegible] below the fingers, and a careless [illegible] thoroughly masculine manner. So men forgave him the beauty of his face and women adored it the more.

Cecily presented him and sank into her chair with a sigh, declaring that introductions always befuddle me. "Bill and Jock, from opposite sides, as[illegible]sisted her to shed her wrap, thereby revealing a tight little gown of coral velvet with a spatter of glistening beads across the bodice. "Don't tell me we're late," she implored. "What I mean is not too late—you haven't done your act yet, have you?"

"No," said Yvonne, "not until eight."

"We had a flat tire," Cecily explained. "Of course. Bill is one of those people who always get flat tires. And then he couldn't find the jack—"

Bill interrupted meekly. "I'm one of those people who never can find the jack."

"[illegible]," said Cecily. "He is really. Well, and so we stopped the next car that came along and there was a nice [illegible] man in it and I was a perfect angel and put my rings in my shoe."

She [illegible] Jock listened, his eyes shifting from her face to her escort's and back again. He saw that [illegible] was infatuated with Cecily. His every glance at her gave it away, despite the bored unconcern with which he sought to keep it hidden.

Quicksands of Love

BY ADELE GARRISON

CALMNESS BEFORE A STORM

DICKY came home exceptionally early in the afternoon following my luncheon with Philip Veritzen at the restaurant where he and Edith Fairfax also had been lunching. All the afternoon I had been nervously dreading his coming, for I feared that I was in for a bad quarter of an hour. His apparent nonchalance when he had come over to speak to us and his cordial greeting of Mr. Veritzen had not deceived me, for I saw smoldering in his eyes the quick jealous anger which is his at any manifestation of interest in me on the part of some personable man. I expected an explosion when he finally should have the opportunity to speak to me alone.

I was conscious of one formidable weapon ready to my hand in the battle which I foresaw. This was the unescapable fact that Dicky had been lunching with Edith Fairfax. I had known for some time that they frequently lunched together, ostensibly because they needed to talk over the luncheon hour the work of the magazine whose ownership they had taken over and the management of which Dicky had been compelled to turn over mostly to Edith because of his press of illustration orders. And I reflected, I also had the excuse of talking over work with my employer, and when Dicky's key turned in the lock, I gripped that weapon hard.

Dicky Conceals His Anger

But when he came in I saw at once that he meant to be exceedingly nonchalant and airy, and I watched him warily, for it is one of his most difficult moods to understand. I can read his tempers and his sulks with the ease of long practice, but his lighter moods I cannot always fathom.

"Well, old dear, you appear to be fairly comfortable."

This was his greeting as I looked up from a chaise lounge where I was luxuriously established reading a volume of mediaeval lore in which I hoped to find something I needed in my work, something which had eluded me for days.

"Yes, I am," I answered carefully, matching his tone. "Is it warmer out?"

He cast an enigmatic glance at me.

"You Are Still My Man"

"Promises to be considerably warmer," he said, and I fancied I caught the malicious edge of a double meaning in his tones. "Where is everybody?"

"Katherine is out with Junior, Mary hasn't come home yet from her French lessons, and Katie has gone to the market."

He nodded, I thought with satisfaction, and went into his room, from which he presently emerged in the dinner coat which it is his invariable custom to put on when we are living in the city. On the farm he appears to strain a point in wearing the most disreputable apparel he can find. I glanced at him obliquely and was thrilled, as I always am at his undeniably good looks and air of distinction. No one knew better than I that we stood as did Jean Ingelow's lovers, upon the opposite banks of a tiny stream of distrust and resentment, which, if we did not look out, might become a mighty river too broad and deep for our crossing. I realized also that the knowledge did not affect me as it would have done even a year ago. But there stirred in me, nevertheless, the possessive little pride which always has been mine when I look at my husband, and I murmured to myself, "There may be trouble ahead, but as yet you are still my man. MINE."

BEFORE HER BABY CAME

Used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Adkins Texas—"Before my baby came I was so weak I had to stay in bed most of the time until I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My mother-in-law, who is a midwife, told me it was all foolishness for me to stay in bed. She told me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it would help me. She handed me one of your little books and I read it and was interested in it. I went to a drug store that night and got a bottle of your wonderful medicine. I took it until the baby was born and was able to be up and do my work. Baby is 4½ months old now and weighs 14 pounds. I have plenty of milk for her and she gains steadily. I recommend it. I am willing to answer letters and will do anything I can for any woman, for I know how I suffered."—MRS. A. H. TECHTERMAN, R. No. 2, Box 39, Adkins, Texas.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been in use by women for over fifty years. It is a vegetable tonic made from roots and herbs and is sold by all druggists.

Statue of Laddie Boy, Made From Newsboys' Pennies Placed On Display In East

Bronze Likeness of President Harding's Dog On Exhibit In Main Entrance to Palace of Education at Philadelphia's Sesqui-Centennial

A bronze statue of "Laddie Boy" the favorite dog of the late President Warren G Harding has been placed inside the main entrance of the Palace of Education at the Philadelphia Sesqui Centennial

The statue is a tribute to the late President Harding from the newsboys of every section of the country. It was cast from pennies contributed to the general fund by the newsboys. It was their way of showing their love for the first newspaperman to president of the United States

"Laddie Boy" gained fame during the occupancy of the President and Mrs Harding at the White House. He is a full blooded airedale. Since Mrs Harding's death the dog has been the property of Robert P [illegible] of West Newton who for a time was personal body guard to President Harding

President Harding is said to have once declared that the finest piece of journalistic work he ever produced was a tribute to a dog

Origin of Move

This incident together with a desire to honor a newsboy who died in France during the World war prompted the leaders of the Roosevelt Newsboys Association to organize the "National Newsboys Laddie Boy Campaign"

After the movement started in Boston William Wrigley Jr of Chicago who was at one time a newsboy consented to be treasurer of the campaign fund. Following closely on the heels of this action the selection of the National Honorary Committee composed of the foremost American publishers

An opening letter of the campaign was written by a newsboy Leonard Fortesky of Revere Mass

In part the letter follows

"The country mourns the loss of that great kindly sincere man—Warren G Harding—and to the newsboys comes the reminder that he was one of the best friends that they ever had

"A man who worked in the game—a man who understood and loved the boys—and a man to whom the newspaper boys of the country could give no greater honor than to erect a fitting monument to his memory"

The plan is for every newsboy in the country to give one penny to be melted and molded into a life sized statue of Laddie Boy

When completed the statue was to have been presented to Mrs Harding. Her death occurred before the campaign was completed. It has been decided to present it to the Smithsonian Institute at Washington following the Philadelphia Exposition

Work of Boston Woman

"Laddie Boy" is the work of Miss Bashka Paeff a Boston sculptoress. A total of 19,314 pennies individual donations of newsboys were included in the statue. When the pennies were gathered they weighed 103 1-2 pounds. It takes 148 pennies to make a pound

The act of President Harding which started the movement for "Laddie Boy" campaign was his desire to see honors paid to the memory of "Scotty" the 15 year old newsboy soldier of Brookline Mass who gave his life in France on July 21 1918 only after he took a toll of 11 lives in a single handed engagement with enemy troops and nothing came in, what would happen?

If it all went out

If you spent all your money as quick as you earned it, where would you end?

Think of your future. Keep the dollars rolling in—not out. When they head for the bank, you're on the road to success.

Just a few dollars but soon they'll end in a big pile—your pot of gold at the end of the rainbow.

Cultivate the habit of saving regularly—a little each week. Get the habit—save now.

World's Largest Airedale and Hunting Dog Kennels Maintain Headquarters in Marion County Village

LaRue Has 400 Students Enrolled in Beautiful New School

BY GILMORE HIETT
State Editor The Star

LA RUE citizens point with considerable pride to the facts that their town is headquarters for the largest Airedale and hunting dog kennel organization in the world and that the public schools there accommodate the largest enrollment of any village school in Marion county.

As Akron is noted for tire industries, Detroit for automobile manufacturing, Marion for steam shovels, LaRue is noted for dogs. With integral parts of its organizations operating in 320 parts of the United States, the Oorang Kennels have carried the name of LaRue to the farthermost corners of the globe.

Twenty-six years ago Walter Lingo, active head of the kennel organization, started in the dog business. He had no liabilities and his assets consisted of one female hound. The disposal of a litter of pups entirely supplied local demand. Though just a lad he advertised the next litter through the channels of a sporting magazine. He received 12 orders of which he was only able to supply seven. Following conservative though strictly modern lines the development of the business has been such that now the average yearly business is near 9,000 or 10,000 dogs, 17,000 having been shipped during a record year.

Home Kennels

The LaRue kennels are merely used to house the greatest of the Oorang Airedales and hounds as training quarters and as a central point from which to fill orders. The offices also are located here. Mr Lingo divides his time between the home office and a branch office located at Columbus.

The training of the Oorang dogs is one of the biggest items in the business. Each day now brings orders from all part of the country for hunting hounds. Following the practice of training and testing each dog shipped in from the 120 auxiliary kennels the caretakers devote six nights a week to running the pack. This operation consists of leading the prey over a trail of several miles and then letting the dogs loose. It is necessary to maintain a small menagerie at the kennels for the dog training. The stock at present includes a black bear, red fox, timber wolf and raccoon.

Oorang dogs made enviable records during the World War. Quartered in the kennels at LaRue is a shaggy Airedale veteran, Lion Oorang, the lone survivor of a pack of eight that served with the Canadian army in Europe. For heroic and intelligent service he was decorated in true military fashion on no less than 14 different occasions. According to kennel attaches, he is enjoying a longer life than that of the ordinary dog, now being 16 years of age. He has been at the LaRue kennels since the close of the war. Lingo is reported to have refused an offer of $5,000 for him in 1920.

The Lingorue

The development of a new strain of dogs at the LaRue kennels is considered an outstanding achievement in the history of the organization. From the Airedale, the Dalmatian and the American Fox hound Walter Lingo has developed a species named the Lingorue.

While the strain has been in existence 16 years it was not until within the last six months that dogs of the breed have been placed on the market. The Lingorue is said to be a reliable hunter of gentle disposition and having a black and brown coat of short straight hair.

Oorang Remedies

In addition to the business of raising, training and selling dogs the Oorang organization has a complete line of remedies, feed and other materials essential to the care and raising of dogs on the market under the Oorang brand. Carloads of Oorang dog biscuits are shipped to LaRue at frequent intervals for distribution.

No small amount of time of those in the business is given over to the publishing of printed matter. Besides annual catalogues and bulletins the Lingo concern publishes a quarterly all-sport magazine under the name of [illegible] and Sportsman which has been on sale at magazine counters for the past three years.

Stockholders of Concern

Among those nationally and internationally prominent who maintain an interest in the Oorang business as stockholders are Jim Thorpe, famous Indian athlete, superintendent of kennels and located at LaRue; Tris Speaker, veteran playing manager of the Cleveland Indians; Ty Cobb, Detroit Tigers star; Charles Paddock, famous sprinter; Horace Lytell, prominent writer; Nick Altrock, member of the Washington Senators and baseball comedian extraordinary.

LaRue's Schools

Next to the kennels in the hearts of LaRue citizens is the beautiful school building, now being used its second year. Erected at cost of $86,000 the red brick structure was dedicated Oct. 10, 1924. It is connected with the original school building which now houses the grades and the two buildings occupy an entire block. All classes of a high grade school are offered to the 400 children. The new building is equipped with laboratories, a library, gymnasium and a large auditorium with a seating capacity sufficient to accommodate 400 persons. Athletic contests are held on a spacious field at the rear of the buildings. The total school property valuation is placed at $200,000.

Much beauty is given to the village by the well-shaded and wide paved streets which measure in distance a total of more than three miles. In the street view above is shown a part of the business section. There is a little history connected with the hitching racks shown in the picture that is of more than passing interest.

The Hitchracks

Some years ago at the time of the street paving LaRue did not have a place suitable for farmers to hitch their horses when in town. With the advent of the paved streets the village council decided to install hitchracks and fulfill a long-felt civil need and appropriated funds for that purpose. It was about the time that the automobile was coming to be recognized as a practical means of private transportation and one that would likely replace the horse-drawn vehicle to considerable extent. The three full blocks of hitchracks had scarcely been erected until council was besieged with numerous requests for dismantling as a most important step in civic progress. The dads remained on the side of old Dobbin and refused all petitions. Time, however, is a great factor in these matters, and with the passing of years practically each new succeeding council has authorized the dismantling of a part of the racks until now there remains but half a block of the hitchracks.

Fire Department

Fortunately LaRue has an extremely efficient fire protection. A motorized department consisting of two pump trucks, using chemicals and water, is maintained. The firemen while not constantly on duty are paid for their services from public funds. A number of large wells are located in various parts of the village which supply water for fire fighting purposes when the chemicals are not adequate to extinguish the blaze. The surrounding farm communities and the village of Agosta is also served by the LaRue department.

Two elevators, a tile mill and a lumber and planing mill comprise the town's industries. There are four churches in the village, namely Methodist, Baptist, Presbyterian and Catholic. The three largest fraternal chapters are the Masons, Knights of Pythias and I. O. O. F.

Canning Factory

Back in the nineties there was organized in LaRue what seemed a thriving industry. By auctioning off of 61 residential sites in the eastern part of the village capital was secured for the erection and operation of a canning factory. Reverses suffered during the first year or two of business took the establishment from the hands of the operators into those of a receiver, George Delunder, appointed by the court. The business was operated under a receivership unsuccessfully and was eventually sold to a firm of hoop and stave manufacturers, which did a profitable business for a number of years, deserting the plant only after all nearby sources of suitable timber had been exhausted.

BY CHARLES HARRISON
(Sports Editor)

MARION County Fair Society's closing light harness events Friday were won by visiting horses from various parts of Ohio and neighboring states. The last day of the three day speed program proved to be by far the best and was witnessed by the largest crowd. Purses totaled $2,300 for the five events including a $1,000 stake.

Six running races and two harness events this afternoon will conclude this year's fair meeting. Many good entries have been reported and good races are promised. One running race Friday was won by Red Tip from a fast field of five entries.

Donald A winner of yesterday's first event the 2 14 trot for $1,000 was from Newark. Miss Affection a big favorite who finished the race second was from Ottumwa Iowa.

Carl Private winner of the 2 15 Pace and second event for $400 was from Parkhill Ont. Twilight entered by I C Hutzel, Ft Wayne Ind took second money.

Yankee Girl the third race winner was from Hillsboro.

Worthy Forbes took the fourth race and was from Oxford Wis. Queen Worthy was second and from Richwood. Red Tip the winning runner was entered by G Ersinger of Rockford.

All events were well filled and the track was in excellent condition.

Purses awarded Friday ended the county fair's races for $7,775 in purse money. More big money races are included in the Derby Day events.

Official Starter Nick Peters and other speed program officials are to be complimented for the success of this year's fair races.

BOROTRA BEATS AMERICA'S LAST HOPE IN TENNIS

Vincent Richards Blows Up in Finals with Frenchman

New York Sept 18—With Vincent Richards U S America's last hope eliminated by Jean Borotra two Frenchmen stars will be the finalists this afternoon in the 45th renewal of the national championship at Forest Hills. Borotra and Jean Rene Lacoste will contend for the title which has been the exclusive property of William T Tilden II of Philadelphia ever since the end of the World War. Both had five set battles before they could conquer but each in turn proved the better player and emerged victor in the semi finals yesterday.

Lacoste had the latest victor over Tilden Henri Cochet another member of the French team for his opponent and after the latter was in a zone of winning in straight sets gradually drew ahead and just managed to outlast the younger star to win.

The recapitulation of points scored in their match as well as the Lacoste Cochet semi final follow.

TUNNEY APPEARS IMPROVED AGAIN

Makes Punk Showing On Thursday But Comes Right Back

Stroudsburg Pa Sept 18—Optimism ran high in Gene Tunney's camp today as a result of the challenger's excellent showing in his work yesterday.

Gene whose work on Thursday was alarmingly poor was a changed man. He worked better than he has at any time since he began training. He had speed and pep. He had strength and power in his punches and in his arms. Poor Jimmy Delaney took a bad battering from him and was bleeding from the nose and mouth after a half minute of action. Tim took many a straight left in his face and had to stand up under terrific right crosses.

Tunney frequently hooked his left to the body and then instantly flashed his right to the jaw. Gene does this well and he is going to bother Dempsey with it. At close quarters Tunney pumped rights and lefts into the body viciously.

Billy Vidabeck took a hammering too both about the body and head. He boxed two rounds as did Delaney.

Tunney will work out again today, tomorrow and Monday. Bud Gorman ought to be here to work with him today. Osk too has been sent away from the camp.

Manager Bacon's Boys Win From Cleveland's Best and Have to Show Akron Tires

Athletics Are Playing Two Games Sunday at Lincoln Park with Swinehart Tire and Rubber Company's Rubber City Champions. Big Leaguers Are Coming

Is semi pro baseball as played in Akron faster than the article put up by the Class AA teams of Cleveland? The Swinehart Tires who play the Athletics in a double header at Lincoln Park Sunday seem to think it is. They claim to have beaten every Cleveland team of note that they have met this season. While admitting that the R B Clothiers who suffered two defeats at the hands of the local team one week ago is one of the best teams in the fifth city the Akron boys claim to have defeated teams as good as the Clothiers.

Surprised When Marion Wins

In a letter to Manager Bacon the manager of the Swinehart team says that he was surprised at the result of the two games here. He did not think that Marion's team had a chance to beat one of the best teams in Cleveland. However he says that this feat has not lessened the confidence of his team in their ability to take the two games from Marion tomorrow.

Washburn Boosts Locals

Frank Washburn local representative of the Swinehart tire factory will give away a Swinehart tire after Sunday's first game. He also offers a bonus of $25 to the Akron team if they succeed in taking one of the games from Marion. He says that he knows the visitors have a strong team and a good record but he has seen the Athletics come from behind so often this season that he does not hope the team representing his factory can take both games and is not sure that he will have to pay the bonus for the one game.

First at 1

Sunday's first game will be called promptly at 1 o'clock. There will be no preliminary game. Both games will be Marion vs Akron. Main and Sparrock will probably be the Marion pitchers. The Akron team has not announced who will be their twirler. They are expected to strengthen their lineup for these games. They have a more wholesome respect for Marion since last Sunday than they had when the games were arranged.

Other Games

With the Akron games out of the way there remains only the game with the Mendel Tailors of Columbus before the big inter-city tournament. Negotiations are still pending for a late season game with the Homestead Grays the famous colored organization but with little hopes for success. If these negotiations finally prove successful it will give Marion fans a chance to see Smoky Joe Williams the famous 40 year old pitcher who has been pitching winning ball for colored teams for 15 years.

October Tournament

Manager Bacon expects to be able to announce by Monday the teams that will appear in the tournament on Oct.

There will be many big leaguers in this tournament according to the letters that are being received from the tentative entries. If Cincinnati noses out St Louis for the National league pennant it is a certainty that Billy Southworth who makes his home in Columbus and whose bat is responsible for the Cardinals being up in the race will be one of the featured players in the tournament. Eddie Wells of Ashland Detroit's leading pitcher will also be on the slab in one of the games possibly in a Marion uniform.

DEMPSEY SAME OLD TIGER MAN

Loughran Spanked Tunney But Is Fearful of Champion

Atlantic City N J Sept 18—Just about the gladdest thought I have these days Tommy Loughran of Philadelphia remarked today is that I do not have to meet up with Jack Dempsey in a real battle on the 23rd. Of course I know there's going to be a nice rich reward for Gene Tunney when he does it but when I think about what Dempsey deals out when he's just fooling around with big gloves I get to wondering if Gene's getting any sort of bargain.

Loughran came to Dempsey's camp a week ago to trade swipes with the champion the very same Loughran who took on Tunney a couple of years ago and dealt Gene quite a spanking. And after various outings with Dempsey during which the champion broke loose with real violence only once Loughran a keen intelligent youngster says:

That man is a murderous puncher and the greatest ring general I ever met. He's tricky and really remarkable on defense without ever getting credit for it. He seems to be taking punches yet the real truth is that he slips them over his head without the slightest damage to himself.

POLICE WILL BE THERE

One thousand police will be on duty at the Municipal Stadium on the day of the Dempsey Tunney fight.

[illegible] question will be an [illegible] in a 36 hole final split [illegible] and afternoon rounds [illegible] that it will be a great [illegible]

[illegible] has the slightest [illegible] decision from Bobby [illegible] George Von Elm [illegible] makes this statement in [illegible] of the fact that the [illegible] in the finals at Merion [illegible] that Jones won [illegible] too that they met in [illegible] at Oakmont last year [illegible] same result. Yet Von Elm is [illegible] convinced. Show me a con[illegible] with that idea in his mind and [illegible] an opponent who won't [illegible] answer until he realizes [illegible] been forbidden by con[illegible] In other word [illegible] beat Von Elm on the score [illegible] can't be done on the club [illegible] before they start. [illegible] his play will not be affect [illegible] fact that Bobby has out[illegible] stroke for stroke, this week [illegible] all other entries in this [illegible] The champion's 143 for [illegible] qualifying round for [illegible] some 17 strokes better [illegible] Von Elm's score.

George didn't have to beat Chick Evans and Francis Ouimet on successive days either. Nor did he play 66 holes in three under 4s, as Jones did in these two matches. Possibly the only thing that kept Bobby from breaking all scoring records during the week was his easy match against Bill Reekie on Wednesday. He didn't score well there because it wasn't necessary. Von Elm has been coming gradually to his best, however, and his 72 for the morning round against George Dawson yesterday was golf that might have won anywhere. As a matter of fact it was two strokes the superior of Jones' first eighteen holes of the Ouimet meeting.

This will be a golf match regardless of prevalent opinion to the contrary. They say Jones has the drop on Von Elm because of his victories at Merion and Oakmont. I say that Von Elm has a great chance in spite of Jones' utter brilliance this week and in fact all weeks. Von Elm is the only golfer in the field who can give him a rally and he'll do it today.

"Putting will win this championship," reads an announcement on the tickets of admission. This is quite true, just as pitching must win ball games. It may be worth of mention that Von Elm's putting has been the sensation of the tournament.

But then Jones has shown a disconcerting flair for sinking long ones when he needs them. I repeat. It will be a great match and Von Elm has a great chance.

BACON AND HANE MEET FOR GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP

Local Stars Well Matched for Vice President's Cup

POORMAN'S SEEK REVENGE FROM GALION INDIANS

Teams Clash Sunday at Seccaium Park; Band Concert

Poorman's Garage baseball team is scheduled to play the Galion Indians Sunday at Seccaium Park where two weeks ago the locals lost a fast ten inning game 7 to 6. The Indians were the only [illegible] lost by the garage boys [illegible] last eleven games.

The Ohio State Reformatory band will play at the game and give a concert in the evening. Sunday's game will be called at 2:30 o'clock.

DEMPSEY NOT TOO OLD

Dempsey is considerably under the average age at which his predecessors relinquished the heavyweight championship. Sullivan was 34 when Corbett beat him. Corbett lost to Fitzsimmons at the age of 31. Fitzsimmons was 37 when Jeffries took the title from him. Jeffries quit the game at 30. Jack Johnson lost his honors to Jess Willard at 37 and Willard was 36 when Dempsey toppled the crown from his head.

A Mighty Important Card

Discarded by four big league ball clubs Billy Southworth is probably the outstanding member of the St. Louis Cardinal team as Hornsby's men fight it out for the National League pennant. Southworth's hitting has been more than spectacular and has accounted for several victories. His fielding has strengthened the defense.

Cardinals Again Take One Game Lead; Cincinnati Is Defeated By New York

Frank Frisch Knocks Reds Out of Lead with Home Run in Tenth and Giants Win 5 4; Bottomley Also Hits Homer for St. Louis

New York, Sept. 18.—The Cardinals scaled the National League [illegible] again today [illegible] having [illegible] the Phillies [illegible] the [illegible] successive time while the Reds were losing to the Giants.

St. Louis and Cincinnati each have eight more games to play.

Pittsburgh dropped completely out of the race by losing another game to the Men.

By making it three out of four from the Yanks, Cleveland cut New York's lead to three and one-half games. The Yanks must now win seven of their 11 remaining games to clinch the pennant. If they win the last two games of the Cleveland series, however, they will need only three victories to clinch the flag.

Frank Frisch hit a homer in the tenth which gave the Giants a 5 to 4 victory over the Reds, knocking Cincinnati out of first place. Frisch also singled with the bases full in the eighth when the Giants shelled Luque off the mound.

The St. Louis steam-roller bowled over the Phillies again 10 to 1. Bottomley's homer with two on base in the first sewed up the game.

Dazzy Vance of Brooklyn showed a flash of his old form in beating Pittsburgh 4 to 1. Hill held the Dodgers to four hits but could not locate the plate at critical moments.

Cleveland, dying with both boots on, made it three straight from the Yanks and moved up to within striking distance of first place by winning a 5 to 1 battle. Shaute held the Yankees to five hits while H[illegible] was unable to steal the [illegible]

Washington advanced to within half a game of third place nosing out Detroit in the tenth, 5 to 4. The Tigers booted the game away with four errors.

The White Sox [illegible] their [illegible] on fifth place as [illegible] of the season.

Thanks had a relapse and the Athletics lost to the Browns 6 to 5, endangering their chances of finishing in the money.

Daily Bedtime Story

BY HOWARD GARIS

Uncle Wiggily and His Friends

Wait a minute please heard this invitation he was hopping out yard of his hollow stump morning hardly the Bob Cat Mr. Sellery Alligator gentleman to himself hardly dare to try to catch own home Besides the will not be so polite as to It must be some of my

As looked down the street Uncle Jackie and Peetie Bow puppy dog boys standing near the path and looking sort of as if something asked Uncle Wiggily Would you mind if we splashed you Jackie with a sly little left eye at his brother Splash me inquired gentleman sort of puzzled What do you mean?

told us we were not to splash unless they wanted to be Peetie sort this the wanted to know admitted Jackie But and we'll do the rest and maybe laugh

Well laugh anyhow! chuckled

see how you can splash me there is no pond of water here Uncle Wiggily bunny gentleman well knew that water was needed unless to be splashed with mud or sawdust or like that and he saw none He did notice however Jackie and Peetie were standing on flat stone that wabbled a And being always ready for a thought it might lead to an Uncle Wiggily said boys You splash me!

all of a quickness Jackie jumped up in the air and on the flat stone with a then all at once

Splash Splosh!

shot out from beneath wabbly stone and a little fire engine Uncle Wiggily's face the bunny rabbit laughed Jackie and splashed! But it's asked Jackie quick we could splash you laughed Uncle Wiggily his face on his handkerchief all right! But how did you splashy stone explained he and Jackie showed the beneath the stone was a of water And when the up and down the water found this out all by ourselves But mother told us never one unless we asked them what we have been do said Uncle Wiggily me again! and the dog the bunny hopped away Peetie had a lot of fun splashy stone showering Mr the polar bear and Mr But they asked permission first each time

And late that afternoon when Uncle Wiggily was coming home from his visit to Mr Twistytail the gentleman pig all of a sudden the Bob Cat jumped out from behind a bush and tried to catch the rabbit But Mr Longears noticed that he was standing close to the splashy stone So all of a sudden he jumped on it hard

"Wow!" howled the bad chap What happened

I splashed you that's all! laughed

"Wow!" howled the bad chap

the bunny And I didn't ask you first either because I thought you might nibble me! And he splashed the Bob Cat again with the wobbly stone until the unpleasant creature ran away his silly little tail with him

So this ends the story of the splashy stone but if the cups and saucers don't jump out of the dishpan and go to the movies without the knife and fork I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's acorn waffles

It is even more important to have active digestive organs than active brains

Children Reading

no more important problem for the parents of growing children the supervision of their reading books for children are difficult to choose Child standards must be considered and it is not easy for a grown person to get a child's point of view should be given only books by the great child loving and understanding authors which hold true to the standards which govern good and good art

There are many books that come under the above classification The best of them are listed in One Thousand Useful Books a booklet which our Washington Bureau has for distribution Included are books for children under books for boys and girls from eight to twelve and books for older
